Social and Personal

THE horse shows, which play such an important part in the social life of the State, have already been inaugurated. Handsome horses and beautifully gowned women will engage the attention of society at various intervals throughout the summer, and fashionable folk will entertain and be entertained at a great many smart affairs.

The annual horse show of the Blue Ridge Hunt Club will be held at Carter's Grove, Millwood, to-morrow, and will begin promptly at 11 o'clock. A good many people will motor to Millwood for the occasion, and luncheon and tea parties will be given at the country homes near there. The Culpeper Horse Show is another society event of to-morrow and the next day. A great number of Richmond people own summer homes near the place and will entertain guests for the event.

The parlor was decorated with palms, ferns and cut flowers for the occasion. The bride, wearing a traveling suit of tan cloth, with hat and gloves to match, entered with her guardian, Mr. Jarman, who gave her away. She was met at the altar by the groom, attended by his brother, R. O. Marable. Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. E. W. Marable, Miss Daisy D. Marable, R. O.
